Underfloor heating and cooling is a form of central heating and cooling which achieves indoor climate control for thermal comfort using conduction, radiation and convection. The terms radiant heating and radiant cooling are commonly used to describe this approach because radiation is responsible for a significant portion of the resulting thermal comfort but this usage is technically correct ...

"Thermal comfort mediates behavioral modification of heat loss, the most important thermoregulatory response in humans. Thermal comfort is determined by skin-surface temperature, not by tissue heat content, cutaneous heat flux, or central temperature. However, comfort produced by a local thermal stimulus depends both on the location of the stimulated skin and the rate of temperature change.
