Whole language describes a literacy philosophy which emphasizes that children should focus on meaning and strategy instruction. It is often contrasted with phonics-based methods of teaching reading and writing which emphasize instruction for decoding and spelling. However, from whole language practitioners' perspective, this view is erroneous and sets up a false dichotomy.

Sight Words. Poor teaching methods such as sight words can cause reading difficulties that mimic dyslexia. Sight words do not promote left to right reading because when memorizing words as a whole, the eye jumps all around the word. [2] Moreover, pictures and words are processed on different sides of the brain.
